Excerpt: .- and 349b an element foreign to the rest of the story. In the later editorial revision the Ephraimite version seems to have been greatly disarranged and curtailed. Cf. also note 79. Only a fragment of Jehovah's command to enter Canaan has been retained. It may be restored, however, from the editorial quotation in 32M. 331, which contains a characteristic idea, also expressed in the language of the Ephraimite narratives, and I will send a Messenger before thee; and I will drive out the Canaanite, the Amorite, etc., seems also to be the editor's substitute for the original version now found in 23X S1, which opens with almost identically the same words. In its setting, 23M Si is primitive, for it deals with the de-parture from Sinai, while its context is concerned with the covenant laws which have not yet been ratified nor inscribed...
