Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Proceedings of the Eighth National Conference on City Planning: Cleveland, June 5-7, 1916 For many reasons I am glad of the opportunity to say to you that you are welcome in Cleveland. I wish I might say it in a way that the words would not seem merely a perfunctory expression. My desire is to make you feel that our welcome to you is sincere, cordial and of genuine heartiness. We are proud of our city, though not self-complacent. Our park system, our group plan of public buildings, the Warrensville philanthropies, the finer residence districts are all mile stones in our progress toward Greater Cleveland. We are proud of the great bridges spanning our crooked river, of the many large industries, of which you will catch a glimpse to-morrow, of the radial lines of railroad entering here, and of our great harbor with its vast shipping interests. We are proud of the towering minds whose dominant ambition and enterprise have made these developments possible, and we are proud also of the thousands of men and women who, day by day, inconspicuously but faithfully fulfill their humbler but no less necessary part in the carrying forward of that part of the work of the world which happens to fall as Cleveland's share. In that measure of success we have already had in building a city do we recognize the measure of the future opportunity and its responsibilities, especially the necessity of adding the element of beauty to the factor of utility wherever it is possible to do so.
